

Wi-Fi zone manual Château le Verdoyer

How can I log in?

- First, connect to one of our many Wi-Fi access points. Choose the one with the best reception signal depending on your location on the campsite. They are called Verdoyer1A, Verdoyer2B, etc...
- Your computer should be set on automatic IP-address (DHCP). Make sure you get the following log-in screen in your browser before buying an account at the reception.

You can also verify your connection by clicking on the link 'Le Verdoyer'. Our site is free to use.

If you do not see this page, or if you are not able to go on the internet, you cannot use our Wi-Fi system on your computer.

Try another computer or use our public computer located at the reception.

- You are now ready to log in. Fill in the log-in name and the password from your account bought at the reception. Please pay attention to the fact that they are both case sensitive!

❌ And how can I log out?

- After you have logged in, you should be able to see this pop-up window where you can see the length of your connection and where you can press the 'log off' button stop your connection. This is important, if you don't log off you will lose time in your account!

- If you don't see this pop-up window and you know a lot about computers, you can disable the various pop-up-blockers for the domain 172.16.15.254 in 'Pop-up Blocker Settings'. If you do not know how to do this, continue reading...
- An easier way is to log out with the following link that you can type in your internet browser: <http://172.16.15.254/logout>. You will then see this screen that confirms that you have indeed just logged out:

- You can also go to <http://www.verdoyer.fr/en/wifi> where you will find two handy buttons to log out and/or to get the status of your account.
- If the methods described above still do not work, you can also just shut down your computer and the system will then automatically log you off within ten minutes.

Please read these instructions again carefully in order to keep your remaining credits and to avoid you spending time coming to our reception.

Enjoy Wi-Fi!
